

Copyright Policy

Copyright protects original works of authorship fixed in a tangible medium of expression.

Copyright infringement occurs when any one or more of the following rights is violated: 1) reproduction; (2) adaptation; (3) distribution to the public; (4) performance in public; or (5) display in public. Copyright infringement issues can also arise when a new work or a modification of an existing work, known as a derivative work, is created from a copyrighted work. A derivative work is based upon a pre-existing work in which the pre-existing work is changed, condensed, recast, transformed, adapted, or embellished. If the pre-existing or underlying work is a protected work under copyright law, one who wishes to exploit the derivative work must obtain a license from the owner of the copyright in the underlying work or works. Therefore, any modification of Chia Network's copyrighted materials for commercial use without explicit permission constitutes infringement.

Chia Network diligently guards its copyrighted materials against infringement. Without express written permission from Chia Network, you may not make any unauthorized reproduction or engage in distribution of Chia Network's Copyrighted Materials, which include materials such as computer software (including object code and source code), web content, diagrams, photos, testing materials, exams, text, images, publications, and graphics published by Chia Network in any format.

Don'ts

It is Chia Network's policy to enforce its copyrights against any third party infringer. To ensure that you do not infringe on any Chia Network copyrighted materials, do not, without express permission from Chia Network engage in any of the following:

- Do not imitate the color or visual appearance of Chia Network materials and/or products.
- Do not use Chia Network logos or graphical design elements in your materials.
- Do not directly or indirectly copy, reproduce, or distribute any Chia Network materials (including webpages) or any part of the text or graphics from those materials.
- Do not directly or indirectly modify or create derivative works of any Chia Network materials.
- Do not copy, modify or reproduce source code or object code of any Chia Network product, except for open source code distributed under the Apache License.
- Do not create materials that create the impression they originated from or are endorsed by Chia Network.
- Do not distribute Chia Network works by sale, rental, or other disposition.
- Do not use Copyrighted Materials unless and until Chia Network has granted you a license to do so, and any and all conditions of such license agreement have been fulfilled. Do not use a Chia Network trademark, name, logo, or any other Chia Network in any materials without obtaining the written permission of Chia Network.

Do's

- Always seek permission to use Chia Network's Copyrighted Materials.

- Secure approval to use any Copyrighted Materials in advance.
